Barrie Public Library	Carnegie Days Storytime	As part of the MacLaren Carnegie Days programming, the library featured a Canadian picture book artist at a Saturday storytime and an art activity. MacLaren promoted this as part of their Carnegie Day series of events	Promotes art and its connection to literacy and the joy of reading. Highlights both our institutions.
Barrie Public Library	Comic Drawing Workshop	AS part of our Library Comic Con, the MacLaren Art Centre held a comic drawing workshop to both promote and celebrate our event.	Helped promote a library event
Barrie Public Library	HIstory Comes Alive! - Culture Story Investigation (CSI)	Museum staff brought some unique artifacts to the library and talked about how they reveal incredible stories about the cultures. Included a fun scavenger hunt to make a connection between artifacts and books in the library.	Helped support lifelong learning in the library.
Barrie Public Library	History for Homeschoolers: Spin, Spun, Done!	This was part of an ongoing series of programs developed in partnership with the museum. for this particular program, the museum staff came to the library and demonstrated spinning and talked about other pioneer tasks.	Promoted both the museum and the library in the community. Children were able to learn about things and experience a program that library staff could not have delivered on their own.
Brampton Public Library	Connections Art and Book Club	Connecting Fine Art and Literature	Lifelong Learning and Love of Reading for participants and cross promotion of services and resources for the organizations
Brampton Public Library	Creative Exchange	A monthly information-sharing and educational meeting to support arts and culture in Brampton	A creative and supportive network of organizations and individuals has been developed which enables the promotion of events and activities, eg. Culture Days.
Brampton Public Library	Local History Collection	Brampton Library is a repository for genealogical information and records pertaining to Peel region.	Provides a central clearing house for resources and expertise around genealogical research.
Brampton Public Library	PA Day Inventor's Workshop	A program for school-aged children. Participants view an exhibit and are taught the basics of design and are then given the opportunity to visit the library to 3D print their project.	Cross-promotion of services; support of academic success for participants and STEM learning; provide free activities for students who are not in school in a safe space. In addition, Brampton Library offers passes to Peel Art Gallery Museum and Archives for families to borrow free of charge.
Burlington Public Library	Burlington Heritage Fair	For the last 10 years, BPL has partnered with local history organizations and museums to present a heritage fair each February to celebrate Heritage Month. The Library is the host location and library staff support the event by sitting on the organizing committee.	The value is share costs, resources, promotion and audiences. This brings more people into the library and raises the profile of the library - as well as highlighting our local history collection.
Burlington Public Library	Hosting Romeo Dallaire	We co-hosted a visit by General Dallaire promoting his book. The library booked the event and it was held at the Art Gallery. Over 200 in attendance and significant media attention. http://www.thespec.com/news-story/6938026-injuries-between-the-ears-need-to-be-recognized-says-dallaire/	The Art Gallery welcomed new visitors who were library customers and had not visited the Gallery. The partnership is on-going for joint programming with events and activities planned.

Burlington Public Library	Romeo Dallaire event	BPL and AGB partnered to present the Honourable Romeo Dallaire for a special author reading and presentation. The event was hosted jointly, but was held at the Art Gallery of Burlington. The event was sold out with a significant waiting list. More than 150 people attended.	We shared marketing and promotion, costs of hosting the event, speaker expenses, audiences and benefits of hosting (media coverage, awareness).
Burnaby Public Library	Burnaby Art Gallery offsite exhibitions	The Burnaby Art Gallery curates rotating offsite exhibitions at two of BPL's library branches.	BPL obtains diverse and interesting art exhibits to enhance our library spaces. Burnaby Art Gallery expands the exhibits that it can curate, with a particular focus on local and smaller exhibits.
Burnaby Public Library	Burnaby Digital Storytelling Project	The Burnaby Storytelling Project is one component of a campaign by the Burnaby Intercultural Planning Table (BIPT), to inform and educate Burnaby citizens about the value that immigrants and refugees bring to our community. In the summer of 2014 Burnaby Public Library, working in partnership with the Shadbolt Centre for the Arts, invited seven storytellers to participate in the Burnaby Digital Storytelling Project. The project seeks to build on the Burnaby Storytelling Project and provides an opportunity for participants to share their stories in a non-traditional way, with a broader audience. The project was made possible with funding from NewToBC.	The Burnaby Storytelling Project trained 22 storytellers who shared their experiences at community events throughout the city, bringing a human face to the issues experienced by newcomers to Burnaby. The partnership was a great match between BPL's role as a platform to share community stories and the Shadbolt Centre for the Arts' creative expertise. It also enabled BPL to promote our place in the digital sphere, and our commitment to our community's newcomers.
Burnaby Public Library	Burnaby Festival of Learning	The Burnaby Festival of Learning was a week-long celebration of learning with 50+ free events that informed, engaged and sparked creative conversations between diverse audiences. The Festival showcased performances, lectures, discussions, debates and book launches joining the University's strong history of research and dialogue with the City's diversity in community programming.	Ability to engage many audiences including children, families, young adults and seniors. Activities across many civic spaces and institutions, including libraries, museums, galleries, parks, community centres in Burnaby, and at the Simon Fraser University Burnaby campus.
Burnaby Public Library	Burnaby Neighbourhood Histories Series	Burnaby Neighbourhood Histories series was a lively speaker series on a diverse range of local history topics. Walking tours of Burnaby parks and cultural landmarks were offered along with talks by speakers such as historians, Burnaby Village Museum staff and First Nations community members.	Tied BPL resources, community expertise, and Village Museum resources together to present diverse and interesting histories. Broadened the spaces that library programs take place in, and increased the diversity of library programming.
Calgary Public Library	Partnership Agreement	The Boards and Administrations of the Calgary and Edmonton Public Libraries concluded a Memorandum of Understanding and subsequently a formal Partnership Agreement	coordination of advocacy and governance-related matters; reciprocal consultation and communication on capacity building and service enhancement for patrons and communities in Edmonton and Calgary; development of collegial relationships with mid-size and rural libraries throughout Alberta

Calgary Public Library	The Library at Telus Sparkl	Calgary Public Library has placed print and other resources for children 0 to 5 and their parents at the Creative Kids Museum in Telus Spark, a recently opened series of spaces designed to expose Calgarians to science, in the broadest sense of the word. Staff from the 2 organizations are working together to build capacity in visitor engagement, early literacy and play	cross pollination, cross promotion, capacity building, opportunities to reach new audiences and diversity the user experience, taking the library out of the library
Calgary Public Library	Witness Blanket Exhibit	Inspired by a woven blanket, the large installation is made out of hundreds of items reclaimed from Residential Schools, churches, government buildings and traditional and cultural structures including Friendship Centres, band offices, treatment centres and universities, from across Canada. The Witness Blanket stands as a national monument to recognise the atrocities of the Indian Residential School era, honour the children, and symbolise ongoing reconciliation. Lacking space for the exhibit, Glenbow asked us to install it in the Central Library.	Patrons using the Central Library who might not want or be able to visit the Glenbow were exposed to this moving tribute; patrons of the Glenbow who might not have previously visited the Central Library were exposed to the Library's resources.
Cambridge Public Library	Cineseries	Our gallery offers independent films throughout the year at the local Galaxy theatre. This year, we have started a film discussion program in our library following a screening so that people attending Cineseries can connect and explore the film in depth.	This new component to our traditional Cineseries program supports the library as a community hub. We are a destination for the exchange of ideas and a place where people with shared interests can connect.
Cambridge Public Library	Curriculum School Visits	Idea Exchange has four library locations and three gallery locations. We jointly offer school classes half day workshops based on the school curriculum. Our newest school visit program launched this fall is called Circuit Circuit. Students in grades five to seven learn about making circuits by breaking into small groups and assembling a Makey Makey circuit, a squishy circuit, programming an Orzobot circuit on an ipad, etc. There are 6 different circuits to build and each group builds all 6 by rotating tables every 6 minutes. It is fast paced hands on learning. Then the students go to our art studio and make a LED greeting card that lights up. They take home the card they make.	Teachers love the hands on, interactive STEAM learning. Their students are highly engaged and enthusiastic. This new curriculum school visit has refreshed our program offering in this area and developed staff capacity for STEAM programming.
Cambridge Public Library	Free Museum Passes For Families	Using their library card, families borrow free passes to the local museums. This is a partnership between Kitchener, Waterloo, Cambridge, Region of Waterloo Public Libraries and the two regional museums.	This cross- promotes public libraries and local museums as cultural destinations. It also fits with our expanding roster of collections for the public including a seed library, circulating guitars, maker kits and puzzles.

Edmonton Public Library	L-Pass	The L-Pass service allows post-secondary students and faculty to use their student/faculty ID and barcode as their public library card by registering online. With the customer's consent, the data in their patron record in the post-secondary institution's ILS is imported into EPL's ILS upon successful completion of a brief web form. No staff intervention from either institution is required for registration and cards issued in this manner are valid until the start of the following school year. Existing memberships may be renewed via the same web service so long as the user has retained affiliation with the post-secondary institution.	Through the L-Pass service, our partner organizations facilitate access for students and faculty to a broader range of content than their collection mandates allow for. EPL benefits from the greater exposure of its services to the populations served by our partner organizations and a growth in membership. As of January 1, 2017, EPL had 3,286 active L-Pass memberships.
Edmonton Public Library	School Partnership	EPL has partnerships Edmonton Public, Edmonton Catholic and the Francophone school boards. Representative from the three boards make up the School Partnership Management Team which meets with EPL four times a year. EPL works with School Partnership representatives to test ideas for programs and services, to advise which programs and services would make the most difference, to discuss promotion strategies and then promote EPL programs and services within their district, to advocate for public library membership and to raise awareness of EPL events, program and services among teachers and students. The most significant program through this partnership is the School Library Card Project (SLCP) through which we deliver library cards to students at their schools.	The mainstay of the Partnership is the SLCP with all districts showing growth over previous school years. And all school districts continue to support longstanding foundational programs, such as the Summer Reading Club (SRC) and Young Readers' Choice Award (YRCA). Most school libraries don't have professionally trained staff in them. That gap in expertise has been acknowledged by our school partners. By working with EPL and realizing the possibilities for digital literacy, and having seen the EPL Maker Spaces, schools have developed their own maker spaces. Additionally, our collection librarians have provided much needed support for collection development.
Edmonton Public Library	Welcome Baby	EPL is one of the few organizations in Edmonton focused on developing the foundations of early literacy. To meet this need, we expanded our partnership with Alberta Health Services to deliver programs and services for babies and preschoolers outside the walls of the library, through public health clinics as part of the two-month immunization process. With this program EPL provides early literacy resources including books, reading recommendations, tips for parents and an invitation to get a library card. We are able to reach approximately 12,000 babies or over 90% of the babies born in our city each year	We've seen 122% increase in library cards given to children under 2. Our early literacy programs have for long been the most popular programs at EPL. Even with that we've seen over 55% increase in program attendance since launching Welcome Baby. Young parents are coming to EPL to learn, engage with their baby and connect with others. • Quote: "Thank you. I knew that the library had some fun programs, but without the kit received at our 2 month appointment, I'm not sure we would have had the push needed to go check the programs out. The library is truly a community necessity".

Hamilton Public Library	Art for Older Adults: See, Talk and Create	This four-week program, supported by funding from the Ontario Ministry Responsible for Seniors Affairs, included transportation and entrance costs to tour the AGH. Participants were encouraged to focus on a piece of art that had a significant impact on them. The following three weeks of programming, lead by a local art educator, focused on the creation of a piece of art or writing based on the chosen art piece.	Many participants had never been to the AGH citing transportation costs, fees or intimidation factors as barriers. Program participants were provided with an encouraging and supportive environment for creative development. The experience helped to reduce social isolation, expand horizons and engagement in culture activities - all contributing to positive mental health. The response from participants and staff was overwhelmingly positive, affirming and raised the awareness and importance of the partner organizations.
Hamilton Public Library	Culture Days	HPL has participated in this Federal/Provincial initiative for many years offering a participatory cultural experience at many library locations. A new partnership with HAC, started in 2016, features multiple library locations providing space to local artists for the purpose of exhibiting and celebrating their work.	HPL is a beacon in the community and we like to consider ourselves a cultural hub. Being able to support local artists in sharing their work with the community is an important role for the Library. Artists benefit from access to free exhibit space in busy spaces with diverse audiences. The public, in turn, is exposed to new and aspiring artists and a greater opportunity to experience art in its many different forms.
Hamilton Public Library	Flamborough Archives at Waterdown Branch	Dedicated space at the newly constructed Waterdown Branch facility had dedicated space set aside for the Flamborough Archives right from the initial design phase. The ongoing presence in the Library of the archives and team of knowledgeable volunteers ensures that residents and researchers have access to collections including online resources such as Ancestry.ca all under one roof.	The new Waterdown facility provides a wonderful space for researchers and the proximity of both the Library's and Archive's collections highlights the organizations' shared mission to serve the community. The new facility also offers the opportunity for joint programming with recent examples of collaboration including the preservation and display of local headstones and changing displays of local memorabilia. The archives provide an added opportunity for community engagement and education.

Hamilton Public Library	Love Your City, Share Your Stories Digital Storytelling Project (LYCSYS)	LYCSYS is a legacy project designed to collect and archive oral stories about Hamilton and Hamiltonians both past and present. Phase one of the project focused on four well known cultural icons – music, libraries, Gore Park (fountain) and Tim Horton’s (coffee and donuts) as well as creating the foundation and procedures for story collection and sharing. Stories are linked with images from both Hamilton Public Library’s and McMaster University Library’s archives collections and are presented in multimedia formats. www.hamiltonstories.ca	Storytelling has a long history of social and cultural importance. HPL’s responsibility for curating and making Hamilton’s rich history available for generations to come is recognized as having significant value to the community and affirms libraries’ traditional role of story collector. LYCSYS is viewed as a legacy project and will be developed on an ongoing basis for both for entertainment and research purposes – stories are collected in accordance with accepted archival guidelines. The project also plays a role in engaging the community, educating new community members on the history of their city and profiling the Local History & Archives department at HPL.
Hamilton Public Library	Special Exhibits	An exhibit dedicated to members of the Royal Canadian Air force who were killed on a mission to support the Warsaw Uprising in WWII presented in partnership with the Consulate General of Poland.	Special exhibits provide an opportunity for HPL to share art pieces that may not ordinarily be accessible to the general public. Feature exhibits are well received with the greater majority of library visitors, provide barrier free access to different cultural mediums and educate all at the same time. HPL and partner organizations view special exhibits as a very worthwhile offering adding the overall cultural characteristic of the community.
Hamilton Public Library	Special Exhibits	“The Orchestra” is an art piece created by renowned artist Donald Manzer and is consider a masterpiece of Folk Art. This whimsical exhibit, made possible by private collectors, is currently on display at Central Library for the enjoyment of all.	Special exhibits provide an opportunity for HPL to share art pieces that may not ordinarily be accessible to the general public. Feature exhibits are well received with the greater majority of library visitors, provide barrier free access to different cultural mediums and educate all at the same time. Hamilton Public Library	Witness Blanket Exhibit	The Witness Blanket, a national monument recognizing the atrocities of the Indian Residential School era, was on display for approximately two months in 2015 and featured many associated programs honouring the children and ongoing reconciliation.	Special exhibits provide an opportunity for HPL to share art pieces that may not ordinarily be accessible to the general public. Feature exhibits are well received with the greater majority of library visitors, provide barrier free access to different cultural mediums and educate all at the same time. HPL and partner organizations view special exhibits as a very worthwhile offering adding the overall cultural characteristic of the community.
Oakville Public Library	Arthouse Musical Theatre & ArtHouse SHAKES the Bard Summer Camp Program	In partnership with Arthouse, the library is able to offer free programs that develop artistry and creativity through musical theatre: singing, acting, dance culminating in a performance. The second is a week-long camp focusing on Shakespeare and incorporates all of the above. We also recruit teen volunteers to assist with programs.	The library's teen volunteers who assist with these programs develop leadership experience along with exposure to the professionals leading the workshops. We provide Arthouse with a venue along with the promotion and registration of participants, while we are able to offer an additional type of programming we couldn't previously.
Oakville Public Library	Cheers to Volunteers	Cheers to Volunteers is a community exhibition celebrating the collective volunteer effort that has built Oakville's arts and culture community.	OAC benefitted through the loan of materials (books, etc., by Oakville authors and/or about Oakville), while the library is gaining additional exposure via the exhibition.
Oakville Public Library	Erchless and Its Inhabitants & Oakville at War	In conjunction with the Oakville Museum, we offer a digital version of two important resources held by the Museum. The first is the digital exhibition of the history of Erchless Estate, based on family scrapbooks that are otherwise only available for in-person consultation. The second exhibit is a digital rendition and extension of the original 1999 exhibition, Shadows of War: Not So Long Ago in the 20th Century.	The Museum gains more exposure for their collections which are not always available to be viewed on a daily basis. Our database, Oakville Images, becomes more comprehensive by working with partners to provide digital content.
Oakville Public Library	Oakville Memories: Old & New	Oakville Historical Society solicited stories from current and former residents. The majority of the stories were published as a book while a selection became the foundation of the digital exhibit created by the library's summer student.	Both organizations promoted and collected the stories, while both groups found new audiences for their collections via multiple platforms.
Oshawa Public Library	Canadian Automotive Museum Library Collection	The Canadian Automotive Museum (CAM) has an extensive, uncatalogued collection of car brochures, advertisements, magazines and books that we have been helping them organize. This includes weeding, proper storage, cataloguing, and promotion of their unique collection on the Canadian car industry.	We have been providing in-kind support by a public library staff person spending 4 hours a week at the museum working on this project. We have a better knowledge of the resources available at the Canadian Automotive Museum.

Oshawa Public Library	Heritage Festival	Annual collaborative event hosted at the Public Library featuring exhibits, guest speakers, and info on local history.	Heightened public awareness of local history, community building and cross promotion of Museum's collection and Library's historical and genealogical collections.
Oshawa Public Library	Seniors Art Show	Annual juried art contest and show for seniors 55+	The Friends of the Oshawa Public Library sponsor the prizes, the Gallery exhibits the entries and hosts the award reception. We both cross promote our organizations and it fosters goodwill in the community.
Ottawa Public Library	Museum passes	Each museum passes allows free access to the museum, for an individual or for a family of four, depending on the museum. Passes are borrowed on a first come, first serve basis (no holds permitted) and are loaned for 7 days.	We have had various partnerships in place with several museums in the Ottawa region for more than 10 years loaning Museum Passes. On an annual basis the passes represent a value of $248,811 by our estimation, with 21,050 checkouts. This value includes a 40% discount, a common method for presentation of economic value. In addition, and most importantly, the partnership with museums has enabled many in our community with a library card to borrow a museum pass that entitles them to attend exhibits and spaces that might be beyond their economic means and outside their day to day worlds. It opens windows to cultural places and what they offer – art, history, artefacts from another time, scientific knowledge, information about aspects of our city, country and world that they can discover and share with family or friends. There are social and emotional benefits in addition to the lifelong learning - complementing what a library already does. Offering museum passes through the library has been extremely popular amongst our clientele, and mutually beneficial for all partners.
Red Deer Public Library	Alberta Foundation for the Arts Collection	http://www.affta.ab.ca/Art-Collection	Difficult to estimate but the collection is valued at $14 million and the Library displays approximately 25 works to the public. The value to the library is the esthetics and the cost to insure.
Red Deer Public Library	Kiwanis Gallery/Red Deer Arts Council	The Downtown Library provides gallery space for RDAC. RDAC programs the space and hold First Friday openings.	The value to the arts council is the public space. The value to the Library is connection to the arts and a great partner.

Surrey Libraries	Family Stories:A Kitchen Table Approach	Family Stories:A Kitchen Approach is a genealogy program with speakers from Surrey Library (Cloverdale branch), the Surrey Museum, and the City of Surrey Archives. The program has been offered twice (Oct 2015 and Nov 2013), and one of its purposes is to escape the tendency of family historians to rely solely on digital resources such as Ancestry. For example, the Surrey Museum speaker (Sandra Borger) describes of how conduct family member interviews.	The program offers fresh perspectives and useful research tools to the library's genealogical clientele.

Surrey Libraries	Scavenger Hunt	A teen scavenger hunt, where youth librarians and staff at the museum challenge participants to use their sleuthing skills to find clues and solve puzzles.	Several participants had never been to the museum or archives and were not aware that it would be of interest or value to youth; likewise were not aware that there was a family history department at the Library. This program provided exposure to these resource areas, valuable for future homework assignments or personal research. The Scavenger Hunt also exposed those participating to some of the Surrey's history in a hands-on, entertaining way.
Surrey Libraries	Surrey Stories	Surrey's Stories is a bi-annual digital publication. Several heritage organizations, including Surrey Libraries, Surrey Archives, and the Surrey Museum, regularly contribute columns.	The publication promotes awareness of upcoming programs and services. It also documents fascinating events, persons and places in Surrey's history.
Surrey Libraries	Surrey:Then and Now	Surrey:Then & Now is a presentation that Surrey Archives staff periodically present at the Cloverdale branch of Surrey Libraries. Staff incorporate archival photographs and modern images of Surrey to show how the city has changed and what remains the same.	The program offers library participants both an education on aspects of Surrey's history as well as a sense of belonging by connecting to that history.

Toronto Public Library	Bloor Street Cultural Corridor	The Bloor Street Cultural Corridor is comprised of arts and culture organizations that have come together in partnership to cross-promote and support a geographically distinct 1.5 kilometre downtown corridor stretching along Bloor Street West. The arts and culture destinations of the Bloor Street Cultural Corridor offer a wide variety of accessible and diverse cultural experiences, including exhibitions, film, theatre, music and more. Each year, more than three million members of the public go to Bloor Street Culture Corridor exhibitions, performances, and events.	As a Bloor Street Cultural Corridor Associate, Toronto Reference Library is able to raise its profile and increase awareness and attendance for its Appel Salon and TD Gallery programming and exhibitions. In addition, Toronto Reference Library's partnership plays a vital role in helping to increase awareness of arts and cultural programming at the participating partner venues as well as promoting the corridor as a premiere cultural destination for Toronto residents and tourists alike.
Toronto Public Library	Destination Canada	The Toronto Public Library is mounting an exhibit in the TD Gallery, entitled Destination Canada. This exhibit will document Canada's immigration story throughout history, using original artifacts and documents. Passages Canada is providing digital stories (recorded interviews) and artifacts for exhibitions, and speakers for our associated programming series.	The content and programming offered by Passages Canada will bring our content up to date, and provide engagement opportunities with our audience. The exhibit will raise the profile of the Passages Canada programme.

Toronto Public Library	MomenTO	MomenTO is a series of local and city-wide events, exhibits and experiences that will mark the 150th anniversary of Confederation. Since 1867, Toronto has been the setting for countless moments that have helped to define Canada, our communities, and ourselves. This commemorative program will highlight historical people, places and events, from 1867 to 2017, that are significant to the history of Canada and Toronto. The result will be a geographically and thematically distributed set of installations, exhibits and events. Collaborations with the Library include content and images which profile Toronto's development over 150 years, and programming throughout the City.	City of Toronto Museum and Heritage Services will provide promotion of the Library's 150 digital narratives project and will link to the Library's website, and will provide programming resources and support for a lecture series and mobile exhibits.
Toronto Public Library	The Ward Museum partnership	The objective is the creation and delivery of programming to explore the history of immigration in Toronto. The Ward Museum is a museum without walls; challenging traditional understandings of history through its focus on interactive and event based programming. The Library provides access to its archival records and collection to co-create programs, projects and activities waiving all licensing fees and charges. The Library will act as an advisor to the Ward Museum staff in the establishment of the museum. Separate Memorandums of Understanding are developed for specific projects. The partnership is effect until either party wishes to cease the agreement.	The Parties will facilitate and promote the strengthening of each other's capacities. Through the Ward Museum's heritage network, the Library will connect with other cultural and heritage institutions to develop rich and new content. The Ward Museum, as a museum without walls, will channel potential donors of archival content to the Toronto Public Library.
Vancouver Public Library	Expo 86	Vancouver's Pendulum Gallery hosted an exhibit of amateur photography taken during Expo 86, which coincided with VPL's own collecting of Expo 86 images and recorded histories. Library staff provided content for the exhibit from our This Vancouver collection, and attended the opening and interviewed attendees about their experiences of Expo.	The cross-pollination of the two initiatives provided VPL with a unique venue for capturing engaged interviewees, while the Pendulum Gallery was able to offer an additional special activity at their event. The interviewing stations were incredibly popular and one out-of-town attendee even arrived with a prepared statement of his impressions of Expo 86 which he had written specially for VPL.

Vancouver Public Library	Inspiration Pass	The Vancouver Inspiration Pass is a free cultural and recreational pass program that allows families and teens to get out and explore their city in a whole new way. Thanks to the program's 27 partner venues, Vancouver residents can use their free library card to check out the best that their city can offer - including popular attractions, museums, heritage sites, fitness facilities, world-class gardens and cultural performances. Created to increase community engagement and inclusivity and support lifelong learning, the pass provides opportunities for Vancouver residents - regardless of socio-economic status - to benefit from the many diverse cultural, learning and recreation activities offered throughout Vancouver.	For the partner venues, the library offers access to a new audience and a new method for accessibility for people who would face barriers to participation. For the library, this allows us to leverage our lending infrastructure to support lifelong learning, community engagement, and access.
Vancouver Public Library	Vancouver Police Museum Tour and Write-In	VPL recently partnered with the Vancouver Police Museum to hold an unusually spooky writing event. On November 28th, more than 40 people joined VPL writer in residence Sam Wiebe for a free tour of the objects, photographs and archival materials in the museum's extensive collection. After the tour, aspiring crime fiction writers took advantage of the atmosphere and stayed for a write-in in the old Vancouver city morgue.	The partnership helped to showcase the treasures of the Museum to an appreciative audience and took library patrons to a new and exciting writing venue.

Partnerships you would like to pursue

Barrie Public Library	More of the History Comes Alive series we have done together	Continue our very successful series of interactive learning about the history of our region and Canada	Makes history tangible and supports lifelong learning
Brampton Public Library	Museum Passes	The ROM would provide Brampton Library with passes that could be catalogued and borrowed by library members. These passes would enable members to visit the ROM for no charge.	Support lifelong learning, academic success as well as to promote the services and activities of the ROM and Brampton Library.
Brampton Public Library	Travelling Exhibit	Brampton Library will host a display of art from the permanent collection of the AGO and will provide a complementary program.	The program would highlight the collection of the AGO and would draw new and unique participants to Brampton Library as well as to support lifelong learning in the community.

Calgary Public Library	Friday evening programming for teens in Calgary's downtown	This project would provide activities for teens in the Central Library on Friday nights, while other family members were visiting downtown Calgary for their own purposes. The activities would be curated and provided by each partner so that, in the course of a the fall and winter programming seasons, teens might be exposed to the widest possible range of fun, cultural events.	cross pollination, cross promotion, opportunities to reach new audiences, and capacity building
Calgary Public Library	Sounds of the city	Patrons of the new Central Library, currently under construction, sit in furniture equipped with a listening station playing music from the Library's digital collection, curated by National Music Centre, with an emphasis on the local and current music scene.	opportunities to reach new audiences for the NMC which opened in 2016; and for the Library to diversify and enhance the user experience; cross pollination, cross promotion, and capacity building
Cambridge Public Library	Digitizing Personal Histories	This year we installed a new digital microfilm reader. It has many features including the ability to scan family photos for inclusion in a family history or online scrap book. We plan to work with the City of Cambridge Archives to raise awareness of this new service and offer joint local history programs.	Genealogy is of great interest to many of our library members. By partnering with the City' Archives department we can better serve this group and cross-promote services.
Edmonton Public Library		A newly constructed Royal Alberta Museum is opening in downtown Edmonton in late 2017/early 2018. We will be working with them to explore partnership/programming opportunities. Through our Summer Reading Club, we are incorporating STEAM learning and hope to work with partners to expand summer learning.	We see potential to expand opportunities for summer learning and addressing the summer slide.
Oakville Public Library	Author/Art Exhibit tie-in	This program idea is still very much in the initial planning stages, so details are still unavailable at this time.	By working in partnership with the Oakville Galleries on an author/art exhibit tie in, we hope that both organizations will benefit by mutual marketing and promotion, and that each audience will discover a new resource as a result.
Oakville Public Library	Giggles and Galleries	Come on out to Central branch for a one hour art experience. Bring along baby for a brief tour of the Oakville Galleries' latest exhibit, then join us afterwards in the Children's Department for a story and song, followed by making your own art pieces with baby to take home.	Like all partnerships, mutual promotion of the program will benefit both groups, in addition to the exposure of what each partner has to offer to previously untapped audiences
Oshawa Public Library	McLaughlin Family History	Collaborative programming. Parkwood is the original home of the McLaughlin family (One of the founders of GM), and the main McLaughlin branch of the Library was funded by Col. Sam McLaughlin.	Enhanced awareness of local history and exposure of both our organizations.
Oshawa Public Library		Promote & support Regimental collection by assessing their collection and helping with digitization.	Increased public awareness and access to Ontario military collection

Surrey Libraries	Researching Indic Family history	With over 1/3 of Surrey's population originating from the Punjab region in India, the project would help define and access records to assist with family history research for the local community.	It would offer a large segment of the community the ability to research their roots and heritage; and expose and audience that do not often use Libraries and Archives to other resources and services.
Thunder Bay Public Library	Truth and Reconciliation	To deliver the T&R calls to action	Profile raising, resource sharing, audience development
Toronto Public Library	TD Gallery exhibit	TPL would like to partner with LAC to present an exhibit based on indigenous themes in the TD Gallery, in Q2 2018. The exhibit would tell the story of the indigenous presence in Canada up to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission. It will include content from the Toronto Public Library's Special Collections and the Library and Archives Canada.	The project will raise the profile of LAC's services and collections in Toronto. The content will enrich the exhibit and fill gaps in the Library's holdings. LAC will provide complementary high level programming to engage a diverse audience.
